Insurance Tracking Expert Available To Talk About Outsourcing, Technology in the Mortgage Industry

Who: Ron Wiser, president of Loan Protector Insurance Services, can provide commentary on the importance of insurance tracking and verification within the mortgage industry and the significant effect of technology.

- How has technology changed the way servicers manage the insurance portion of their loan portfolios?
- How has technology affected the insurance tracking process?
- What are the benefits of outsourcing insurance tracking services?
- What are some of the factors affecting the business during the next several months?
- When should lenders use lender-placed insurance?

What: With the changing mortgage client, lenders are paying more attention to their portfolios and doing whatever they can to protect their investments by verifying that the borrower maintains insurance on the collateral. Outsourcing has become a viable alternative for lenders who want to focus more on other activities instead of tracking insurance. Loan Protector offers a turnkey insurance tracking service devoted exclusively to the mortgage industry. Using state-of-the-art technology, it collects and matches the latest insurance data against a lender's loan portfolio to get updates on borrowers insurance status. Loan Protector's suite of products include EasyTrackSM, outsourcing of insurance tracking and escrow; EasyDataSM, electronic delivery of property insurance information; EasyNORSM, automated borrower notification and lender-placed insurance; and EasyPlaceSM, online ordering for lender-placed insurance.

When: Ron Wiser is available to provide expert commentary immediately.
